SECTION 'A' READING

1. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow: (15 Marks)

Once a famous tennis player was scheduled to play a prestigious championship match against her most formidable rival. At the last minute, she gave the excuse of not feeling well and refused to play. Her reputation was ruined. Until the day of her death, she was regarded as a 'poor sport' afraid of defeat. Why is such a high value put on good sportsmanship in the field of sports? The games themselves are not so important. No, but the traits a person shows in playing a game, reveals a person's character and breeding. The qualities needed in games are the same needed for decent living, fairness, honor, self control, willingness to abide by the rules, just tempered by restraint and ability to win or lose with good spirit. If you cannot muster up any interest in a game, you had better stay out of it. A half-hearted player who does not keep his mind on the game, is for ever asking, "Oh, is it my turn?" and plainly does not care how things turn out and is an annoyance. The ideal player plays for the fun of playing. He tries to win; yet he is not so eager that he jumps in ahead of his turn or claims victory before the game is over.

You say the sun shines bright;
I feel him warm but how can he
Or make it day or night?
My day or night myself I make
When're I sleep or play;
And could I ever keep awake
With me were always day,
With heavy sighs I often hear
You mourn my hapless woe,
Be sure with patience I can bear
A loss I ne'er can know.

My cheer of mind destroy;
Whilst thus I sing, I am a king;
Although a poor blind boy.
